

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An optical disk according to the invention has a lead-in area in which information concerning characteristics of an optical head for use in recording or reproducing the information and an optimum condition 5 of a light beam for recording the information on the optical disk or reproducing the information from the optical disk are recorded.